Brady Seeley checks the fish tank at Canton High School.

Trout In the Classroom returns to Canton High School once again with a new twist.

This time, the experience is double the opportunity as a result of a grant from the Bradford County Conservation District.

This year, the students are operating two tanks instead of one.

This comes as a result of an $889.57 grant from the Pa. Association of Conservation Districts through the Meaningful Watershed Environmental Education Grant Program which is funded by the Federal NOAA B-Wet Program.

This funding was secured with the assistance of Mr. Rich Gulyas of the Bradford County Conservation District.

Now three classrooms allow many different classes an opportunity to observe and work with the fish on a regular basis.

It is our hope to perhaps see if differing some minor environmental conditions offers similar or different levels of success.

It will be interesting to see if the fish overall become larger prior to release as a result of more tank volume per fish.

Senior, Brady Seeley will once again head up the activities and monitoring of the TIC experience.

He will be assisted by the ag and honors earth science 2 classes throughout the year. Last April, the students successfully released approximately 150 brook trout to a local stream.
